Summary:

God wants the best for us. He's always planning something wonderful, but for us to benefit from what He wants to do, we must be willing to let go of the spiritual clutter in our lives and make room for Him. God wants to enter into a personal relationship with us; we receive Him by deliberately expanding our hearts and giving Him access. Despite what others may say, it's still entirely possible to encounter the miraculous. Focusing on God and His Word, and putting out the world's noisy chatter, allows us to experience our own miracle.

Notes:

1. God wants to do something amazing in our lives that has never been done before. He wants to redefine "normal" for us. We must make room for God's message.
2. We must take an honest look at our lives and ask ourselves if we're giving room for God's Word. We should allow Him to do what He wants to do without getting too busy for Him.
3. We can listen to God or to the devil. God can only work in our lives if we choose to receive Him; He'll have no opportunity if we're too cluttered and distracted by unimportant details.
4. God wants to bless us abundantly; however, He can only do so if we let go of the junk in our lives. We must simply put out the unproductive things in our lives and refuse to let them distract us from what we should be focusing on.
5. As free moral agents we can either focus on God's Word or drown in the world's noise. It's up to us to intentionally make room for the miraculous.
