Summary:

Christians are in a spiritual battle with Satan, who is determined to make our lives miserable and kill us; with this in mind, we mustn't blame God for the bad things that happen. The enemy is constantly lurking in the background, waiting for an opportunity to work evil in our lives. He's willing to lie to us with his suggestions if it means he can lead us away from God. We combat his tactics with a thorough knowledge of God's Word. The ability to use His Word as armor to defeat Satan gives us the advantage in the fight for our minds.

Notes:

1. When bad things happen, we must know who is behind them; God isn't to blame.
2. We must protect our minds. The devil tries to establish a stronghold in our thought lives through wrong thinking that contradicts God's Word.
3. We must become good custodians over our thought lives. It's essential to regularly examine our thoughts and judge them accurately.
4. Satan's weapon is the power of suggestion, but we can decide not to listen to him.
5. The devil tries to influence us to make the wrong choices in life, opening the door for him to enter in and work destruction. The choice is ours as to whether or not we listen to him and let him influence us.
